

---

GULFSHORE TREASURES

People often say one of our region's biggest assets is our restaurant community. That's proven true in the last months as local restaurateurs worked miracles to keep their kitchens open and staffs employed, feed the frontline and families in need, and provide the rest of us with the sense of normalcy that comes from sharing a good meal. Here, the owners of Sails Restaurant lead their masked and gloved crew in packing meals to donate to NCH Healthcare System in April. On page 32 Dorothea Hunter Sönne recounts the many other admirable ways restaurants adapted. ■

Courtesy Sails Restaurant/Louis Venne

